Kazuyuki Tono is a more than capable detective that has handled many vicious criminals and has also solved a number of difficult cases by occasionally bending the rules. One day, he receives an order to become an instructor at the MPD Police Academy.

Not satisfied with the re-assignment, Tono reluctantly begins his new career as an instructor. And even though Sawako Minoshima, head of the New Recruits Department, thinks Tono is a horrible detective, she still recognizes his achievements and asks that he use his experience to help cut down on unfit trainees.

On the first day of class, Tono threatens to cut two of new recruits, Eiji Miyata and Shuta Yubara, after he walks in on them arguing and on the verge of throwing punches.

As ordered, the strict Tono teaches with an iron fist as his 30 trainees grow increasingly resentful.

The battle between the instructor and new recruits begins...
