High School Coming Out

A show to help high school boys/girls who haven't enough courage to express their feelings to their loved ones by giving a chance to "come out."

The MC visits a high school and makes a public announcement at the school introducing the launch of the "Wooing Club".

Using the same announcement system, MC recruits students who want to profess their hidden love, and calls on the girl/boy to whom they want to woo their love to come to the club room set in a prefabricated unit specially built for the show.

The profession of love takes place in the club room and if they agree to become a couple, they make a breakthrough out of the roof to declare that they have now become a couple.

The two breaking the roof to show the success of the profession is indeed the most dramatic moment for the two as well as for the friends waiting for the "big moment" in the school yard and viewers at home.
